

Rains Failed To Stop Snow Train

LANSING TRAIN BRINGS AUDITOR GENERAL DEPT. EMPLOYEES

Rains on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, making the winter park too wet for service, prompted local winter sports officials to order all snow trains cancelled. The Lansing crowd however, was not to be halted and they told the train men that they had tickets and would take the trip in spite of weather conditions.

About 300 arrived at 11:30 a. m., headed by Auditor General George T. Gundry. The skating rink was under water but the toboggan slides were still in condition for use except that in the low lands water was so deep that it would mean a ducking had anyone tried to chute the chutes.

It was anything but winter sports play condition and in that way the crowd was disappointed. But that didn't deter the snow trainers from having a good time. They danced, sang and had a great time among themselves.

With Mr. Gundry were his legal advisor Martin T. Lavin and Miles Casteel, back coach for the M. S. C. football team.

Snow started falling during the middle afternoon and soon the park was covered with the beautiful and assumed, in appearance, its usual attractiveness.

Little damage has been done to the park and, with seasonable temperature, it can be made ready for use again in a short time.

WINTER PARK PROVIDES MUCH LABOR

Some of the local people who belittle the efforts of our winter sports officers and committees should check up on what winter sports mean to local workmen. Treasurer C. J. McNamara, in checking over accounts finds that $1,929.05 has been paid out for labor in the park up to February 1st.

That does not include money paid out for supplies and materials for the park. Nor does it include money paid out for labor and service that is not strictly for park maintenance. The above sum was paid out within a period of two months and means that a lot of Grayling families have profited from winter sports.

In all $2,899.83 has been paid out for labor and supplies, and outstanding bills will amount to another estimated $800.00.

Thus it may be seen that winter sports mean a lot to Grayling families, regardless of weather conditions and season's successes and failures.

DR. AND MRS. C. G. CLIPPERT HOSTS

The ladies and gentlemen of the Saturday Bridge club were entertained at a buffet supper at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Clippert Friday evening.

Following the supper the sixteen guests played contract, with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Joseph holding the winning scores.

Mrs. Harry Connine was a guest of the club.

Grayling Fighters Made Good Showing

WIN 3 CHAMPIONSHIPS OUT OF 6 ENTRANTS

A large delegation of fight fans were on hand in Bay City Monday night to witness the semi-final contests in the Golden Gloves tournament. Six of Grayling's tournament contributions were scheduled to appear in the fight arena.

Rudy Harrison of the City of Grayling, won his fight over Amos Bennett, in the light heavyweight class, by a decision. Harrison, however, suffered a broken jaw and was unable to continue in the finals on the following night.

Wilfred Whobry of Luzerne CCC, scored a technical knockout over Stewart Gleason of Mayville. This was in the lightweight class.

In the light heavyweight class, Jack Gohl, of Hillman, scored a technical knockout over Ralph Cox of Pinconning.

In the heavyweight class Ed Kujewski of Boyne City, won the decision over Merlin Partio of Whittemore.

All the above winners were products of the Grayling tournament held here recently. These winners will go to Grand Rapids next week for further bouts, preparatory for Michigan championships. The winners from that city will compete in Chicago later for the national Golden Gloves championship.

The Marble Tournament.

Hi, Skinny! Why weren't you there?

Hot competition! Plenty of stuff on the alleys when the marble tournament burst into action in the down-town district Sunday morning. It was marble time, and some of our youngsters made the most of the occasion.

On the firing line were such marble artists as Bob Clark, Alfred Newell, Ted Bennett, Bob Bennett, Hazen Hatfield, and Bob Tiffin. And a nice gallery of interested fans. Marbles flew thick and fast and the competition was keen.

On the checkup, Ted Bennett proved the champion, with Bob Clark a close second. It was great fun for the youngsters and no doubt the rivalry will inspire more contests to follow.

GRAYLING MERCHANTS WIN SEVEN STRAIGHT

The Grayling Merchants basketball team have been on a winning streak and last night took their seventh straight victory, when they beat Cadillac 38 to 16 at Roscommon, where they are entered in the tournament being played off there this week and which will end tomorrow night. Last week the Merchants won the championship in the tournament played at Houghton Lake by defeating Lake City in the finals by a score of 47 to 44.

The Merchants have made a good showing this year and later in the season they expect to show the local people, when they stage a tournament here in the Grayling school gym.

13th Annual Winter Carnival Feb. 12-13

P. J. HOFFMASTER TO CROWN QUEEN

Grayling's thirteenth annual Winter Sports carnival will be staged Saturday and Sunday at the Winter park and plans are going forward to make it the same big affair it has always been.

The park will be in full swing both days and Saturday evening the Queen's Ball will take place in the new dance hall. Queen Naomi and her court will be there to greet everyone, and the Melody

Makers of Lake City will furnish the music for dancing.

The admission to the Park on Saturday will be 50c and that includes admission to the Queen's Ball. So one may dance, enjoy the toboggan slides or skate. The cafeteria will also be in operation both days.

Queen To Be Crowned Sunday
P. J. Hoffmaster, Director of the State Conservation Commission, will crown Queen Naomi on Sunday afternoon with all due ceremonies, at the Park.

Snow Trains are expected to bring crowds of merry-makers on Sunday, and large crowds are expected both days by auto.

The Queen's Throne
The throne at the Park that will be used for the crowning of the queen is somewhat different than in former years. A 30-foot snow man on skis graces the scene with the seat for the queen and her court along each side. This is nearing completion.

Slides are being repaired in readiness for the big two-day event, and the ice skating rink where the water settled during the balmy days of the forepart of the week has made its surface smooth as glass.

With temperatures ranging between 26 and 44 degrees since Friday, it fell ten degrees yesterday afternoon and this morning at 6:00 o'clock it fell to 4 above zero, which is just right for winter sports activities.

RUDY HARRISON SUFFERS BROKEN JAW

Rudy Harrison, the City of Grayling's contribution to the Golden Gloves at the Bay City meet, suffered a broken jaw during the match with Amos Bennett of Bay City, on Monday night. Altho winning the decision his injury is so severe that it is doubtful if he will be able to do any fighting for several years.

He was taken to Mercy hospital in Bay City where it was found that it was necessary to apply several wire stitches. He is at the home of his parents and is getting along as well as may be expected.

Bennett was highly touted before his match with Rudy, and the latter's victory was quite a surprise to the Bay City fans. Harrison, had it not been for his serious injury, had excellent chances for winning the finals. As it was, however, he was unable to continue in the tournament.

Blind But In Busine

Open for business. Harold Schmidt, 1156 N. Twenty-sixth st., and his Seeing Eye, Swans, started in business in the federal building Thursday at their cigar and candy stand in the lobby. Postmaster John A. Fleissner was the first customer. He bought cigars, of course. Through the aid of the Lions' club, Mr. Schmidt was granted the concession. Dr. Harry J. Watson, district governor of the club, and his wife, helped Mr. Schmidt get his stand ready for the "grand opening."

The above picture and story appeared in a late edition of the Milwaukee News. Harold Schmidt was one of Grayling's home boys and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Holger Schmidt of this city. His many friends here who are familiar with his blindness will be glad to learn that he is able to care for himself. Mrs. Schmidt was formerly Miss Evelyn Thieme, a former Grayling school teacher. During his affliction Mrs. Schmidt has given him the best of care and faithful companionship. Harold was always ambitious and cheerful and we know these characteristics are going to be large factors in his future happiness.

We appreciate the courtesy of the Milwaukee News in making it possible to use the picture in this newspaper.—Editor.

School B. B. Tourney Plans Under Way

Basketball tournament plans are shaping up as this event draws closer and closer. The trophies have been received, tickets and balls are on hand, and entries are coming in. Remember March 3-4-5, when Grayling will be the hub of the district for basketball fans.

In Class C the teams assigned to this district are Gaylord, Kalkaska, Mancelona, Onaway, and Grayling. Onaway is new to this tournament having been transferred here from the Alpena district. They are voted as being very formidable. The Class D teams are Roscommon, St. Mary's of Gaylord, Johannesburg, Mio, Elmira, and Vanderbilt. Frederic will not compete this year and all of the schools listed above have not been heard from as yet, but it is well known that they will enter the competition.

Charlevoix Classy Quints Coming Fri.

The classiest basketball team in the north will take the floor here tomorrow night when Coach "Stub" Kipke brings his Charlevoix High School team here to take on Grayling. A ball club that has steam-rollered all opposition in Class C and Class B circles. The lake-siders should give Grayling fans something to look at that will be pretty snappy. Boyne City has been strong again this year but Charlevoix took them with ease. Grayling probably won't face tougher opposition any time any year than they will see this Friday night.

The last time that Charlevoix played here they were defeated by Grayling, but they don't aim to get another blot on their record. The Kipke-coached machine plays in the conference, the standings of which are as follow:

School	W	L	Pct.
Charlevoix	6	0	1.000
Boyne City	5	1	.833
Harbor Springs	5	2	.714
Mancelona	4	3	.571
Grayling	3	3	.500
Gaylord	2	4	.333
East Jordan	0	6	.000
Kalkaska	0	6	.000

WOMAN'S CLUB HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Mrs. C. J. McNamara was hostess to the Woman's club at its annual and social meeting combined, Monday evening.

The President, Miss Eva Dorr, was in the chair. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Pres.—Mrs. Stanley Stealy.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. C. G. Clippert.
Sec'y.—Mrs. Herbert Gothro.
Vice Sec'y.—Mrs. Gerald Poor.
Treas.—Miss Margaret Hemmingsen.
Cor. Sec.—Mrs. Carl Peterson.

A program followed the election which was both instructive and delightful. Mrs. Esbern Olson gave an informal talk on Welfare in Crawford County. "Old Time Favorites", by Harry Hale Pike, was sung by Mrs. C. G. Clippert, Mrs. Harold Jarmin and Mrs. Herbert Gothro. Miss Johnson played two very lovely piano selections, "Sparkles" by Mokowski, and Chopin Waltz.

The committee served a very attractive lunch buffet style, from a long table centered with a crystal bowl of sweet peas guarded by four green tapers.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Esbern Olson.

NATIONAL YOUTH ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Robinson of Dowagiac was the speaker at the Kiwanis club dinner Wednesday night. Besides the members of the club, there were many guests and visitors, especially those engaged in welfare service in this part of the state.

According to the speaker the NYA is a setup for the purpose of aiding boys and girls to obtain employment, and motivated with the thought of bringing self help to young people.

Funds are provided by the federal government for employing boys and girls in public service, so that they may continue in their school work. Boys and girls of school age are allowed for service $6.00 each month; for college age, $15.00 per month, and for college graduates $40.00 per month.

Whenever funds are needed for youth, the government steps in with offers of work for expenses.

The speaker mentioned (off the record) what we believe is a sensible move in school education. It is an idea advocated by Dr. Elliott, superintendent of public instruction of Michigan, that instead of high school curriculums providing for college careers, which only about 20% of the pupils adopt, stress should be made for the education of the other 80% for business and other careers not requiring a college education.

According to the speaker the NYA stands prepared to aid in any just cause the young people of America.

FRANK R. DECKROW CELEBRATES 82ND MILESTONE

Frank R. Deckrow reaching his 82nd milestone Friday was reminded of the occasion when his children who reside here, and their families proceeded to celebrate. The crowd attended the show at the Rialto, afterwards going to the old family home of the Deckrows on Og-maw street for the evening.

At lunch time a huge birthday cake holding 82 candles made the guest of honor smile, and there was a twinkle in his eye.

Mr. Deckrow still smokes his pipe, reads all the dailies he can get hold of to keep informed on current events, and seldom a day passes no matter what the weather, but that he makes a trip down town.

A person wrapped up in himself makes a mighty small package.

Red Cross Chapter Has Proud Record

January 28, 1938

Mrs. C. G. Clippert, Chairman Crawford County Chapter American Red Cross Grayling, Michigan.

My dear Mrs. Clippert: This is an acknowledgment of your final Roll Call report reflecting the splendid enrollment of 208 memberships and $9.30 in donations of less than $1.00 for which Miss Hemmingson has forwarded $108.65 as National's portion.

I wish to congratulate you upon your Roll Call success. As a matter of interest I have reviewed past records and not in years have you had so fine a response. It gives me pleasure to forward an Honor Certificate to your chapter in recognition of your achievement which will be mailed to you within the next few days, the engrossing of your chapter name upon it requiring a few days time. I can appreciate how encouraging it is to your local planning to have the wider leadership and the additional funds for which the increase provides.

Very truly yours,
Wm. M. Baxter, Jr.,
Manager.

The certificate is on display in Chris Olsen's window.

HONORED ON 35TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lozon were married 35 years ago Tuesday and their children and families to make it a memorable occasion, gathered at the farm home in Maple Forest that evening. Other than the family Miss Lilian Jordan and Mrs. Grace Church were present.

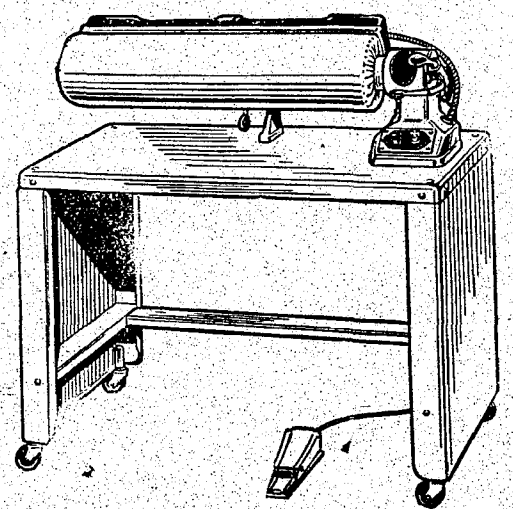

Lunch was served late in the evening with a beautiful silver and pink decorated wedding cake adorning the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Lozon have been residents of Crawford county for the past 20 years. They are the parents of seven children, all living, Edmund of Grand Rapids, Miss One of Grayling, Robert of Frederic, Chester, of Maple Forest and Ernest, Clyde and Phyllis at home.

Many friends join in wishing them many more years of wedded happiness.

THURSDAY, FEB. 10, 1938

A MOVEMENT is under way to draft O. L. Smith, a Detroit attorney as candidate for governor on the Republican ticket. We have seen a lot of Mr. Smith's service in the state, especially as an assistant attorney general. He is one of the outstanding young attorneys of Michigan, is an indefatigable worker and would make an excellent governor. While we have sincere appreciation of Mr. Smith's qualifications for this high office, still we can't get away from the belief that Michigan never had a more conscientious and able governor than Frank D. Fitzgerald. He left the state in excellent financial condition, and just now the people of Michigan would appreciate a little common-sense kitchen economy. When we think of the tremendous increase in the cost of the state government we feel like resorting to vituperation, and we don't like to do so. We have sincere faith that Mr. Fitzgerald, if re-elected governor, would return state affairs back to a business administration.

CHAS. WYLIE WINS NATIONAL ESSAY CONTEST

Charles Wylie, Grayling senior student and manager of the Olivet College Book Store, received news yesterday that his entry in Garden City Publishing Company's national essay contest had won first prize. The contest is sponsored to uncover novel methods of marketing college books and of encouraging genuine interest in books. Mr. Wylie's essay was selected because it "represented the most original thought on marketing problems for the book publisher," and because it "revealed a genuine appreciation of the need for appreciation of fine literature on the part of the students."

The contest was open to college book stores all over the United States. About 4,000 essays were submitted. Wylie not only receives the prize money of twenty-five dollars, but also has the satisfaction of seeing his entry printed in the monthly trade magazine, "The College Store". Garden City will also read his essay into the minutes of the national college store convention to be held in Chicago in the spring. Both are worthy distinctions.

The Lincoln's Ann Rutledge And Her Beautiful Namesake

Tragic Love Affair Was Almost Ruinous to Emancipator

Unselfish humanitarian though he was, Abraham Lincoln's career was almost wrecked when he was twenty-six by a tragic love affair with Ann Rutledge. The incident was recently recalled by the dedication of a new railroad train, the "Ann Rutledge," in which a prominent role was taken by the great grand-niece and namesake of this pioneer belle.

Today's Ann Rutledge, beautiful as her famous ancestor, is a stage actress. She comes from a family dating back to South Carolina and the Revolutionary war, one of whom signed the Declaration of Independence.

Lincoln's Ann Rutledge was the daughter of a tavern keeper in New Salem, Ill., whose love the bashful and awkward young politician sought four years. So inferior did he feel that Lincoln at one time ceased pursuing her and left for Vandalia, the Illinois state capital. During his absence Ann was betrothed to John McNeil, a successful New Salem storekeeper whose shady past was suspected by Lincoln, since the young lawyer had handled papers for McNeil showing that his real name was McNamar. McNeil left New Salem for New York, with the understanding that he would soon return and claim his bride. Infrequent letters brought excuses and John McNeil did not return.

Ann Rutledge sought a refuge and

MR. POCHOLON BUILDS SNOWMAN

Mr. Albert Pochelon and son William of Detroit, were here over the last week end for winter sports, just as they are here nearly every week. But the weather was out of tune for winter sports. "What could I do," said Mr. Pochelon. "I couldn't skate, couldn't ride the toboggans, nor ski or snowshoe, and I couldn't be idle."

"A snow man? Yes, that's it!" And a snow man it was. And what a snow man! It was a honey and very artistic. Instead of the conventional type of snow man, it was a bust, and the finest creation of a snow man that we have ever seen. It certainly was a work of art and would do justice to a trained sculptor.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. William G. Payson, who spends her summers here on the AuSable, and who is well known among the Grayling people, has recently furnished a room at the hospital in memory of her late husband, William G. Payson. The room is on the first floor in the northwest corner. It is a semi-double room beautifully and comfortably furnished.

George A. Mandley of Houghton Lake was dismissed from the hospital Tuesday.

Patients include: Mrs. Albert Sundberg and son, Peter Edward, of Houghton Lake; John Anderson Sr.; Archie Howse Sr.; Mrs. Andrew Nowak and baby daughter of Vanderbilt; Little Myrtle Lillie of Boyne Falls; Laurence Respekak of Gaylord; and Ray Holburn of Vanderbilt, who was badly burned at his home when gasoline exploded, is still a patient and is improving.

RECEIVES LETTER FROM FORMER TEACHER

Friends and former pupils of the former Olive J. Peeke will be interested in the following letter received by Miss Naomi Wheeler, Snow Queen:

40 Benedict Ave.
Tarrytown-on-Hudson,
New York
February 3, 1938

Dear Naomi:
In a round-about way, through my sister in Detroit who sent me a newspaper picture of you, I found out that you are to be the queen this year. I suppose I should address you as "Her Royal Highness" or "Her Majesty" or some such "handle" that befit such an honor and position, but I remember you as just Naomi who always had a ready smile.

It suddenly made me homesick to be back in Grayling to see and talk to those I knew. Time and time again I've wondered what has become of the seniors of that year and those who have graduated since. Do write and give me news.

They haven't an idea here what winter really is. We had one miserable snow and since it has been cold, damp fog or rain. It must be good for the trees, for in the spring it more than makes up for the miserable winter. In all my life I've never seen so many flowering trees and shrubs and plants.

You are a senior this year. Right? What is the basketball team doing? They would have to go some to beat the record that year. Wasn't it fun following the team and cheering?

It is too bad Tarrytown is too far from Grayling for a week-end "confab."

I'm teaching part-time in a private school (very small) for the very rich girls. They all board. You'd never know it was a school inside or out. It is a beautiful white colonial brick mansion set in great trees with great lawns all about. They have their own horses and riding ring. Classes are all informal, before the fireplace in the great library if it is cold or on sunny days in the glassed in sunporch among the many plants. There are no desks. We sometimes sit in the formal dining room around the oval polished table and look for all the world like a gathering of diplomats.

I was frankly scared when I met my big class of four in biology and ten in history last year. This year (because Wall Street is acting up) there is a smaller enrollment and I have four in one class and five in another. There are nine girls and six teachers. How would you like that? All morning when not in class they must speak French. I find my sign language helps me through. Once in a while I chaperone them into New York City to shop or see plays or an opera. It all sounds fun and it is, but I miss the grand, wholesome, tolerant girls of my public school experiences.

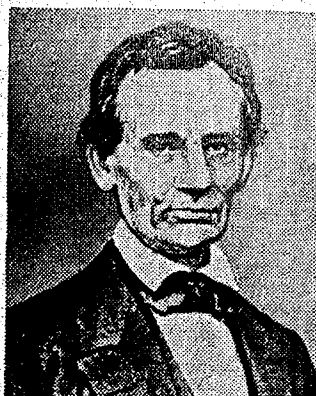

I'm enjoying domesticity very much. I'm busy keeping a modern one-and-a-half room apartment in order. (The half is the little kitchen).

Our latest exciting hobby, since our landlord won't let us put out aerial for our amateur radio broadcasting set, is reading together all the books on cruises of small sailing craft in the South Seas. We've become so enthusiastic we have bought a sixteen-foot sloop and are busy refinishing the mast and boom, repainting the boat proper, and whitening the sails. We plan to sail about this end of Long Island Sound and as far out as we dare. I am so proud of you, for this honor, and happy for you. Take a couple of extra whizzing rides down the toboggan slide for me.

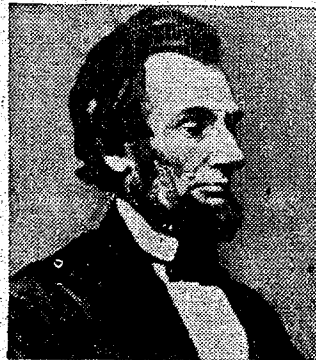

Say "hello" and "good luck" to those who remember me. Always,
Olive J. (Peeke) Pawley.

AS LINCOLN GREW OLD

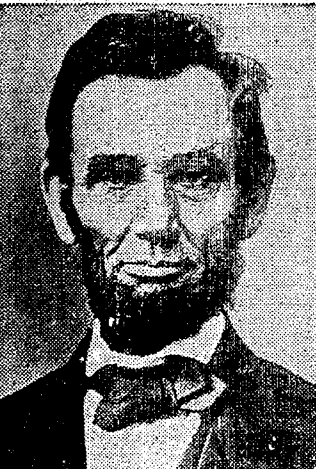

The tragic march of time that etched deep furrows in Abraham Lincoln's brow is clearly illustrated in these pictures from the Yale University Press. The above photograph was made by Matthew Brady, famous Civil war photographer, on February 27, 1860. This picture and his speech at Cooper Union, Lincoln once said, made him President.

One February 23, 1863, two years after the war began, Brady again trained his lens on the features of Lincoln. Here we see him in repose, part of the war behind him, weary to his soul... a wise, saddened man.

Now it is 1864 and in the South Lincoln hears the steady, undiminished roar of the guns and the gasps of the dying while at home discontent rises. He is pleasant-faced and smiling here as he tries to give his followers a note of confidence. But who would say only four years separate this photograph and the first one?

Here is one of the most famous pictures ever made of Lincoln, taken during the last years of his life and showing a face scathed by time.

And here is Lincoln today, his image preserved in stately form for the thousands who visit this revered spot in Lincoln memorial, Washington, D. C.

Children in Court

Judge Malcolm Hatfield

A cursory survey of the case histories of a gang of delinquent boys plainly reveals that they came from broken, crowded and unhygienic homes. In several cases it was found that the parents were not only drunkards and thieves, but were utterly unprepared to guide and direct their children.

The problem of inadequate parentage is frequently due to lack of parental education and misunderstanding. In many instances parents are largely responsible for children's misconduct because of the examples they set them in the home. When parents are unaware that children unconsciously imitate them, they are likely to give no thought to what they say or do in the child's presence.

Ode to the North

welcome to our Northern Haven,
For that rest that you've been cravin'
For a chance to share your duties
And commune with Nature's beauties.
For a chance to know that feelin'
That from Life you are not stealin'
Time and tortoise to play.

To this land up in the Northwood,
Secluded snug among the whifwood
You can walk thru Virgin Timber,
Feel your weary bones grow lumber
You'll forget all greed and taxes,
Know now soul and mind relaxes
With the whispering of the Pines.

If you hanker for diversion,
There's no chance for gloom immersion
Each and every month has changes,
To satisfy the sportsman's ranges
There's a lodge on every stream shore,
With a welcome sign on each door
Bidding you to loaf and rest.

May the first starts five months fishin',
For those big ones you've been wishin'
In October and November,
Ducks and Grouse and Partridge splendor
Then fifteen days you have for luck,
To get a shot at that ten-point buck
Now interlude for holiday cheer.

Then with the New Year's resolutions,
Winter Sports will find solutions
If from monotony you are ailin',
Try a week-end trip to Graylin'
Three miles south and west you travel,
And as you feel tense nerves unravel
Work and worry fade away.

Here the Winter Sports and gayety,
Has common-touch with rich and laity
If you chance the big toboggan,
One hundred miles an hour you're loggin'
But if this speed you are not ratin',
There is skinn', dancin', skatin'
Young or old will find a place.

But if you come just for spectatin',
Every nerve will be vibratin'
As you watch the sports and thrills,
While the daring take their spills
You will get more kick and pleasure,
Out of Life than you can measure
As you add years to your score.

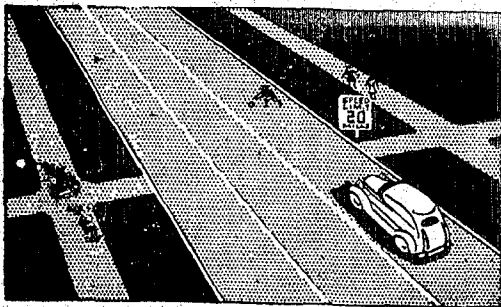

To this land up in the Jack Pines,
Mind and soul with Nature entwines
There's no chance to feel depression,
Laugh and scoff at this recession
For it's Nature's natural playground,
Where the best in Life will be found
And ambitions born anew.

What Every Driver Must Know

PEDESTRIANS

This series of articles was written to provide Michigan drivers with a means of studying the traffic laws in preparing for their drivers' license examinations. Since pedestrian deaths account for about 40% of the annual accident toll, the series would not be complete without a discussion of the person who should walk on the left side of the road so they can see approaching traffic and avoid it. They should avoid all forms of jaywalking and be especially careful at intersections with stop and go lights to cross only on the Green. Children should not play where balls and toys will roll into the street. Increased cooperation and alertness both by drivers and pedestrians will help save human lives.

Winter Sports Queens of Yesteryear

This is the 13th annual season for winter sports in Grayling. The first was held on what is now known as Division Hill at the Hanson State Military reservation in the year 1925.

It was not until the year 1929 that a queen and a queen's court were selected and an ice throne constructed. Dorothy May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank May was Grayling's first queen.

Pictures of most of our snow queens appear herewith. A few pictures are lacking, much to our regret. It should be interesting to renew our memories of these eventful occasions.

State Guards 5,000 "Lost" Auto Titles

Nearly 5,000 automobile titles, lost by their owners in the last 12 months, are being held by the Department of State, until their owners realize their loss and ask for them—as they will shortly, when they start to buy their 1938 license plates.

If correct addresses were known, these titles would of course be sent to their owners, but the file of "lost titles" contains only those which postal authorities haven't been able to deliver because of faulty addresses given by applicants for the titles.

Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, points out that thousands of people are annually frustrated for a time at least, by frantic searches for their car titles which they must present when they apply for license plates.

With well over a million motor vehicles still without their 1938 license plates and the deadline set by law at midnight, Monday, February 28, Case points to an inevitable jam at every Department of State office in the state at the end of this month. He suggests that those deferring their purchases through necessity, make certain at this time that they have their titles available.

Experience indicates that the large bulk of "lost" titles now held by the Department, will be claimed before the license plate deadline. It may not be possible, in every case, however, to get the titles back to their owners before the deadline, because of the volume of business created as March 1 approaches.

Who cares about the right-of-way if an accident depends on it? Why worry about the right-of-way at an intersection, crossroad, private driveway, or other road entrance when a few seconds' delay will eliminate the possibility of a smash-up? Give the right-of-way to the other fellow and let him be on his way. In another two seconds you yourself will be on the safe side. That is courteous driving. It is the safest way. To drive openly and defiantly heading into an intersection simply because you have the right-of-way is not an act of courtesy nor is it safe driving. Just ordinary good manners in driving an automobile will prevent as many accidents as reasonable care. The two go hand in hand and are inseparable.

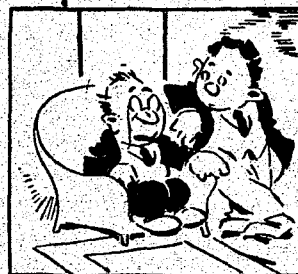

Wrote "Abide With Me" The hymn "Abide With Me" was written nearly 100 years ago by Rev. Henry Francis Lyte, vicar of Brixham, England. The author had preached what he intuitively realized was his final sermon. Returning to the parish house he dictated the words of the hymn to his daughter and died soon afterward. The Berry Head parish house, where the minister lived, is preserved as a memorial.

Ernie Borchers tells of seeing a robin one day last week. If the sunshine of the last few days keeps up, there will soon be a lot of robins around.

A simple want ad in the Avalanche may help you sell some articles for which you have no immediate use. The cost is small. Try it.

There will be a dollar sale at the Maureen Shoppe beginning Monday, February 14th in order to make room for the new spring and summer merchandise.

The American Legion Auxiliary will entertain their husbands and the members of Grayling Post 106 and their wives on Saturday evening, Feb. 19 at a Hard Times party at the Legion hall.

We have never before seen as beautiful shamrock plants as Mrs. Maude Hanson is showing in her store. There are two of them and they look as tho they were the genuine, right from the "ole sod."

Stream-lining barber shop signs is the latest fashion, and Herb Gothro is the first in Northern Michigan to burst out with one. It's a "Neolite", lined with red, white and blue pencil stripes spiraling from bottom to the top. It's very attractive, especially in the evening while lighted.

March 1st is the date set for "Howdy Stranger", the play being put on by the Womans Club.

Earl J. Hewitt, employed by the National Re-Employment Service with offices in Gaylord for the past two years, has been transferred to Cadillac, where he is in charge of four counties. Re-employment Service for Crawford county is now being taken care of in the West Branch office.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Esbern Hanson entertained her Bridge club at a very lovely Valentine luncheon. Red and white carnations made a very cheery table decoration enhanced by red heart place cards. Miss Margaret Bauman held the high score for bridge that followed the luncheon.

The Winter Sports program for the children of Crawford county, that was to be held Wednesday afternoon, was necessarily postponed because of weather conditions. However, Wednesday of next week has been set aside for the program of events for the children at the Winter Park, providing weather conditions permit.

According to a bulletin recently issued by the State Highway department, payment to the several counties of the state amounted to over $26,000,000. Of that amount Crawford county received $85,827.56. That's a lot of money and goes thru the hands of the County Highway commission. If that body would publish the proceedings of its commission so that the public could see just how its money is expended, it would please a lot of people.

Be sure to save Tuesday, March 1st, for "Howdy Stranger."

The Junior Danish Aid society is meeting tonight with Miss Elma Mae Sorenson.

Dr. C. R. Keyport is confined to his home this week with an injured knee, resulting from a fall.

After the Winter Sports carnival this week end, the next important event will be the Firemen's ball, that will be held on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22.

Civil Service examinations will be held in Grayling Saturday for clerks and nurses. These examinations are held at the High school building. Examination for Social Workers will be held on Feb. 26.

Tracy Nelson was called to Ann Arbor Wednesday by the serious condition of his brother Ted Nelson, of Mancelona. The young man underwent an operation at University Hospital about three weeks ago.

The Grayling Merchants team participating in the Independent basketball tournament at Roscommon, copped a nice victory the opening night Wednesday, from the Cadillac "Y". The score was 38 and 16. Tonight they are lined up to meet Lake City.

The machine used by Emil Niederer in cutting ice broke through the ice Wednesday on School Section lake. The weather for several days had been more like April weather so there are places where the ice has gotten thin. It was however, hauled out to safety.

Mrs. Harry Sorenson entertained the Bunco Club of which she is a member, Wednesday afternoon. In the games that were played Mrs. Paul Feldhauser and Mrs. Tracy Nelson held high scores and consolations went to Mrs. Sorenson. The club will meet next week with Mrs. Paul Feldhauser.

Lt. J. D. Hartley, commander of Camp AuSable, says that the Avalanche didn't give the right parties credit for apprehending the persons who broke into the down river cabins and setting fire to another. He personally, with the aid of two members of the State Police, apprehended and arrested the parties. The latter were from Camp AuSable, James Scott, Stanley Grzybylo, Aubrey Carroll and Leo Novak, whose homes are in Chicago, and Charles Gugett, of Detroit. All are in jail awaiting trial in the April term of circuit court, and were enrollees in the camp of which Lt. Hartley is the commander. We are glad to make this correction for when officers do such a good job as was done in this case they deserve due credit.

Donna Lee LaMotte is carrying her right arm in a sling, having injured her elbow when she fell on the icy walk recently.

The Danish Ladies Aid society will give a bake sale at the Schlotz grocery Saturday, February 12th.

Mrs. Benjamin Pankow left Wednesday on her return to her home in San Francisco, and was accompanied by her son Arthur and wife, the former who has been quite ill for some time. The young man is going west to try and recuperate his health. They are making the trip by motor and will stop in Flint enroute.

William (Stub) Ketzbeck, has leased a cafe in Wolverine and has taken personal charge. "Stub's Inn", his place north of the city at the airport, has been sub-leased by Andrew Heribacka, who says that he intends to continue to have the place inviting and a pleasant place for friends and the general public to meet.

Rev. Fr. James Moloney received the sad word Thursday evening that his mother who has been ill for so long had passed away at a Marquette hospital. The family home is at Ishpeming where the funeral was held Monday and where interment took place. Father Moloney has the sympathy of many friends in his bereavement.

St. Mary's Altar Society gave a pleasant card party Thursday evening and in the various games that were played the following held high scores, Mrs. Ernest Borchers, bridge; Mrs. Alfred Hanson and David Montour, pin-ochle; Miss Margaret Kessler, five hundred and Mrs. Mose Woods for Pedro. The committee served lunch.

Grayling was represented on the sidelines in the Golden Gloves tournament in Bay City with a large crowd of followers numbering 80. Some of the crowd stayed over for the bouts and others returned home after the fights Monday night, and then went back Tuesday but were somewhat disappointed when "Rudy" could not appear.

We acknowledge receipt of a copy of the "Roosevelt Review", a magazine published for the guests of the Roosevelt Hotel, New Orleans, sent to us by our old friend T. Hanson. He with his sister, Mrs. Margrethe Graham, are spending the winter in the south. The magazine is replete with fine illustrations and descriptive matter pertaining to the hotel and its guests. The "Roosevelt Review" certainly is a credit to the hotel and, in fact, the South. It was a very interesting number.

What is not generally known is that the roped arena that was used at the Golden Gloves tournament at the school house recently was provided by Capt. John Erkes of the Military reservation. It is the property of the National guard of Michigan. Mr. Erkes arranged for its use by the local tournament committee, and supervised its erection and taking down. It meant a lot of work for Capt. Erkes but he did it without any reward, and he deserves the appreciation of Grayling people for his generosity.

Mrs. Mollie Bosworth was home from Lansing over the week end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Johnson. Returning she was accompanied by Mrs. Gus Anderson, who went to Lansing to visit her daughter who resides there.

Mrs. Fred Mutton of Detroit arrived Saturday to spend the remainder of the winter, and is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Shaw at Lake Margrethe. Mrs. Shaw returned the same day after being in Bay City for several weeks.

Brooks Epley and family have returned to their farm in Beaver Creek after being in Eckerman in the Upper Peninsula for some time. Mr. Epley was employed in a pulpwood camp there, but the snow was so deep that it was impossible to get into the woods to work.

Miss Gail Welsh is leaving tonight for Detroit, and on Friday night she will be in attendance at the U. of M. Junior Prom, where she is to be escorted by Jack Zeder of Detroit, formerly of Grayling. Also Miss Mary Gretchen Connine, now a student at U. of M., will be among those attending the prom.

Charles Hill of Ypsilanti spent the week end here coming to accompany home Mrs. Hill, who had spent the week visiting friends, a guest at the Harold Jarmin home. Miss Helen McLeod who came with Mr. Hill, visited Miss Mary Montour, the latter who came home from Detroit for Sunday.

Miss Collette Smith and Miss Iola Cogswell of the Oldsmobile Girls Club, were among the passengers on the Lansing snow train Sunday. As the Winter Sports park was not in operation, they spent the day visiting among friends of Miss Smith. Both ladies are employed in the offices of the Oldsmobile Motor Company.

Supt. and Mrs. Gerald Poor, accompanied by Jennie Peterson, Virginia Charron, Gloria LaMotte and Ruth Benware drove to Mt. Pleasant Saturday. The young ladies visited Misses Elaine McDonnell and Pauline Entsminger, and enjoyed a trip through the college. They are all seniors and contemplate entering the college next fall.

DeVere Dawson has returned home after having been gone since the early part of October. After visiting in Flint he was accompanied by friends on a trip south to Texas, Florida, and other states. On his return Friday his cousin, Miss Ruth Olson of Grand Blanc and Miss Maxine Dillon of Caro accompanied him here and spent the week end visiting at the Dawson home.

Lansing—If a special session of the legislature is called by governor Murphy, it will be to provide additional relief for unemployed rather than to enact labor legislation.

This is the present outlook at the state capitol where the picture has changed materially within the past six months. When the legislature adjourned last summer, the business barometer had not registered a tailspin fall. Times were still good, and labor was yet in a mood to demand increased wages and betterment of working conditions. The need for labor relations mediation at that time had convinced the governor of the advisability of having a special session "in the fall," probably as early as October.

The peak of the labor sit-down strikes occurred at the peak of the 1937 business barometer. When jobs are plentiful and workers are in demand, labor finds its greatest opportunity to get what it asks for.

Reverse the order, and you have an entirely new situation. The picture has changed.

Relief Now Paramount

Whereas social justice legislation was uppermost in the mind of the governor six months ago, the needs of welfare relief have come to the front.

The state budget was left $17,000,000 out of balance when lawmakers left Lansing.

Last fall the prospective deficit was reduced to approximately $8,000,000 through executive action in trimming legislative appropriations.

Today, the fiscal deficit threatens to rise to $10,000,000, according to Budget Director Harold D. Smith in a mid-January estimate. And ten million dollars in the red is something to worry about.

The budget problem is complicated by the fact that the Michigan relief burden has doubled in the past four months, jumping from $7,530 in September to $7,023 in January. On January 31 the state had $3,000,000 remaining in its welfare appropriation. The January-February allotment has already been increased $760,000 over the amounts anticipated by the legislature.

More Spending, More Taxes?

For the past five years under administrations of both parties the state government each year has spent more money.

The state has undertaken new responsibilities, most of them at the insistence of folks back home. The 1937 general session of the legislature was a good example of how home communities implore Lansing to come to their aid in appropriating more money for their own local needs.

Disbursements of the state government for the fiscal year ending last June 30 showed that nearly 50 per cent of state monies went to local governments. Whereas the state spent $81,987,000 for its own needs, it also sent $80,539,000 back to local governments. The 81 millions for state needs were exclusive of the liquor control commission's expenditures for liquor stocks.

In annual totals, here is the factual record for the past five years:

1933—$14,566,898
1934—$15,184,838
1935—$17,197,310
1936—$19,714,884
1937—$23,485,319

And the curve in state expenditures has continued to go upward since June 30 of last year. In fact, the records show that the state spent during the last six months of 1937 approximately $14,000,000 more than it took in. Expenditures from June to December totaled $121,483,000. The disbursements for the same period in the previous year were $103,322,000.

This matter of tax spending represents a definite steady trend in state government covering both republican and democratic administrations. Where will it end? Already the drums are being beaten for an income tax. Here is a serious problem, worthy of every citizen's attention.

State Fair in Black
Through the energy of a Detroit business man, Michigan's state fair has been taken out of the red into the black.

To Frank N. Isbey, fair manager, is due the credit for the successful showing in Detroit last fall when receipts exceeded expenses by $62,269. The 1935-36 fairs incurred a net loss of $101,924. The accumulative deficit was $369,853 by 1937.

Attendance figures for 1937 were 520,282, as compared with 203,246 for the previous year. Although the state fair is not centrally located and is more accessible to Detroit residents than to citizens upstate, Manager Isbey believes that it can be built into a truly state enterprise that will attract thousands of Michigan citizens from upstate communities to the motor metropolis.

Apple, Potato Surplus

Michigan's improved health, as shown in declining death rates, may be due to the apple surplus—maybe.

At least, one wag remarked that if an apple a day would keep the doctor away, Michigan ought to be in good shape for many months to come.

The apple crop last year was a bumper.

The Michigan Apple Institute has undertaken an ambitious program to make the consumer "apple conscious."

Another apple merchandising week is being sponsored by apple growers in more than 100,000 retail stores throughout the nation. Large stocks of fruit still remain in storage for movement into consuming channels.

With the fruit priced very attractively, Michigan citizens can afford to enjoy baked apples for breakfast, luncheon and dinner—every day. Maybe the doctor's won't like it, but the household budget will.

Lower Farm Income

Although the federal government's farm bounty in 1938 will soar past the billion mark, the Michigan prospects are that farmers will have a lowered cash income, according to R. V. Gunn, research specialist in agricultural economics at Michigan State College.

The domestic demand for products is likely to decline, while prices of commodities the farmer has to buy are apt to go up.

The outlook, in brief:

Wheat—Acreage the same, income lower.

Beans—Acreage reduced, prices better.

Sugar beets—Acreage "likely to be considerably increased."

Potatoes—Same acreage as last year; prices better.

Apples—Production fairly stationary.

Peaches—Trend upward.

Pears—Production at near-high level.

Cherries—Production apt to increase steadily.

Grapes—Production on decline, due to low prices and neglect of vineyards.

Strawberries—Acreage likely to increase sharply due to high prices in 1937.

Dairying—Most favorable winter since 1930.

Poultry—Egg prices likely to improve with favorable feed-egg price ratio. Chicken prices apt to be lower during second half of 1938.

Live stock—Consumer demand to be less favorable.

Michigan Salt

Most of the state's salt production is confined to the lower peninsula in the counties of Saginaw, Bay, Iosco, Huron, St. Clair, Midland, Manistee, Mason, Gratiot and Wayne. Michigan leads all other states in salt production, says the Detroit News. The three principal areas are those around Saginaw, Bay City and Midland; around Ludington and Manistee, and around Port Huron, St. Clair and Detroit. Much of the salt is produced from brine, formed by pumping water into the salt formation, though there are also rock salt mines.

Mancelona Cops From G. H. S.

Fifteen seconds is a short space of time, but it meant the difference between winning and losing to Grayling High School in their game in Mancelona last Friday night. If the clock could have stopped that much sooner the score wouldn't have been 27 to 26 and Mancelona fans would have been treated to a sad disaster. They would have seen a team come gallantly from behind to turn a three-point deficit into a one-point lead, all in the space of forty seconds. That's just what they would have seen if it hadn't been for a miraculous long shot by a guard named Bailey who wore the Orange and Black of the Mancelona team. Because he shot that long basket Grayling lost and the gallant comeback went for nothing. The Reserves also lost, but by the wider margin of 32 to 23.

Mancelona lead most of the way, with a few exceptions, their attack being paced by a big husky lad named Hardy, who made Grayling a goodly lot of trouble. He had help from his supporting caste however, and it was a ball game throughout. Grayling kept up a barrage at the basket that grew heavier in the second half and almost won the game. It was tough to lose. Going into the last quarter the count was all tied up at 17 points each. With a minute to go it was 25-22 for Mancelona. This lead vanished as the Grayling attack netted two quick baskets that seemed to insure victory. Right there was where Bailey did his little act and that was that.

The Grayling Reserves stepped out fast into a lead that was 16 to 12 at the half. It was cut down and became non-existent by the third quarter mark and no Grayling lead was to be seen after that.

This week Grayling plays the powerful Charlevoix team, with the Reserves tackling Frederic, looking for revenge for a former defeat at the hand of the neighboring school.

Letter From R. A. Wright
Feb. 3, 1938
Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Mr. O. P. Schumann,
Grayling, Michigan.

Dear Mr. Schumann:
Have intended writing you prior to this but just found too many other things to do that have taken my time. I have been indeed interested in the accounts of the Golden Gloves tournament and Winter Sports that you have carried each week in the Avalanche. It is apparent that the tournament was a big success, considering that this being our first attempt to stage such an affair, the committee in charge naturally were working under handicaps. No doubt we can make each succeeding tournament bigger and better than the last. Too much credit can't be given to the committee in charge, and especially Harley Russell, chairman of the committee, who I understand worked like a Trojan to make this tournament the huge success it turned out to be.

As President of the Izaak Walton League Chapter that sponsored the tournament, I wish to take this opportunity to extend my thanks and appreciation to the committee in charge as well as all Grayling citizens who cooperated, that our first Golden Gloves tournament might prove to be the success it was.

I am pleased to note that Winter Sports apparently are going over with a bang this year. It is fortunate that the weather has proven so favorable to date and let's hope it continues. I am inclined to feel that our Winter Sports program is going to be one of the biggest things that the citizens of Grayling ever sponsored.

I trust that the newly elected directors for the Chamber of Commerce will get together and formulate a progressive program for the year to come as well as finish signing up those Grayling citizens who have not joined to date.

As for me, I haven't been doing as much deep sea fishing this year as I did last. The ocean has been quite rough most of the time and the fishing has so far, been none too good. This month however, the fishing should be better and I will make up for lost time. Tomorrow I am leaving for three days of fishing in the Florida Keys and expect to make a good catch as that spot is a fisherman's paradise and the fish come big and of all varieties.

Sincerely yours,
R. A. Wright.

Livestock on Highway

Grayling, Mich.
Feb. 3, 1938

To the Editor of the Avalanche:

Will you please print this in your paper:

To the readers of the Avalanche and of Maple Forest township, mainly the thoughtless people as to the care of their stock, horses I mean. Some of our farm friends work their team hard all summer, get all they can out of them, then in the winter when there is nothing for them to do they turn them out to shift for themselves. We have seen them on the highways as long as 48 hours and longer at temperatures of 18° to 22° degrees below zero. Now animals are only as smart as their owner or master make them. They can't go to some farm home and ask for a drink of water or something to eat.

I think if some of these people were turned out to live on the roots and twigs without water or shelter, it would give them another view of animal life.

There is also a law as to the abuse of dumb animals so if these people don't want to get mixed up with the law, I would advise them to take their stock in and care for them as stock should be cared for.

One letter has been sent to the law and more will be sent if necessary till some action is taken. We are asking the co-operation of the Humane Society if such an organization exists here, to see that this is enforced.

When people are too destitute to buy feed for their stock they can always find somebody who will take care of them for the use of them, but when people can buy new trucks and such and then still let their stock run the highways, it's high time something was being done.

I hope I am not the only one that feels this way so I am asking the cooperation of the editor to publish this.

Yours for better care of livestock.

A Reader.

HOME EXTENSION MEETING

FEBRUARY 15

How to choose floor coverings and wall coverings to suit every house is a problem that recurs over and over again as old things wear out and need to be replaced. Floor coverings in particular deserve special attention because they form the foundation of the whole color scheme of a room and are often a lifetime investment in beauty and utility.

These problems will be the subject of the discussion of the Home Furnishing Project given by Alice Hertzler, Home Extension Agent, at the fourth leaders meeting which is being held in the Court House at Grayling on Tuesday, February 15. The meeting will begin at 10 o'clock.
